"Give Me a Chance To Think!"

All right.

That chance will be during the week of November 7th to 12th.

During that week take a little time and go over in your mind the many things your home town paper has done—is doing—will continue to do—for your home town.

Think about it seriously.

Think whether or not you have stood loyally by at all times when the community's champion has needed financial and moral support.

Think whether or not you have always done your duty by the town's best friend.

Think how much better your home town paper could do if each citizen were as loyal to it as it is to them.

Think of some one far away who would enjoy the weekly visit from the old home town paper, then hand in a subscription for that far-away friend.

If you are not now a subscriber, be one.

The citizens of a community are always interested in their own home doings more than anything else. This is natural and right, as your home and community should come first, and then comes your county, state and nation. Our county paper is published for the benefit of our community, just as much as any other community in the county, and if we fail to reap the benefit from the paper that we should, it is our fault and not the editors. They are doing their part, so let's do ours by subscribing for the paper and doing everything we can to make the paper better.

DYCUS.

Everybody at this place went chestnut hunting Sunday. They went in all kinds of conveyances. Some in Fords, some in buggies, still others went in wagons, expecting to find more than could be brought home otherwise. Some went a foot. Ever one reported a good time and a few chestnuts.

BURRITT DEFEATS DYCUS.

For the second time Dycus and the College boys from the crest of Cumberland Mountains battled for supremacy on the diamond. This game was played at Gainesboro, Saturday Oct. 22.

The game started with J. Wiggins on the hill for Dycus and one Jimmie Smith occupying the same place for the mountaineers. For two innings neither side scored, but in the third, catcher Huffines doubled just inside third base, and Jake Draper scored him with a hit through the box and managed to score himself. The Mountaineers failed in the third again.

Wiggins was pitching unhittable ball, but his team mates could tell from his looks that he would have to soon be relieved.

The Mountaineers scored three in the fourth on some poor playing by Dycus infailed and still another one in the fifth. Minchey relieved Wiggins at the start of the sixth and the Collage lads pushed over three runs on some glaringly bad throwing by the Dycus infield.

Dycus scored two in their half of the sixth on some real hitting and with the exception of G. Hackett's homer in the eighth failed to score any more.

The collegians scored one in seventh, four in the eighth. The Dycus infield was again responsible for their scoring, but a home run by Miller accounted for Burritts scores in the ninth.

This was a heartbreaking defeat for Dycus team, as they were playing before the largest crowd they ever played before and played the poorest ball they have ever played this season. Score by innings.

Big Fire at Gadtown.

Yuby Dam U. S. A.

Gadtown went down in ashes to the ground. There has also been many fires in Yuby Dam. At divers times fire's fierce alarm has rung and rung down through this town.

At sundry times men have come in a run to tell me my house was falling in. They would say "you have no time to put on your pants, or to pray." Then I'd jump out of the door with my eyebrows scorched away and hear my shanty fall and know that I had lost my all and was poor. As quick as a wink, with no time to think, no plans laid or made. I would join the "bucket brigade," and grab a wash pan in my hand and bob around, like a feather in a cyclone and watch the flames roll on. And as they would leap up three hundred feet, I would throw my quart of juice to stop the fire, but of course there was "no use," the fire would go on up higher toward the moon. I'd get hot through and through and through. I'd stand and bake one side brown, then turn around and roast and toast, until I was thoroughly done and pant for breath.

My insurance got so high, I heaved a sigh. This thing drove all the music out of me. I set all day and quack and shake, with constant fear, that some stray spark would dart into some inflammable spot and heat it hot and start another fire. Then, came another thought, I said these fires I've fought in vain. I've followed them around over

JACKSON COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING.

The Jackson County Medical Society met at the beautiful home of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Reeves Monday, Oct. 17. All the members and their wives were present, except Drs. Cornwell and Clark, the former being detained at home on account of sickness in his family, and Dr. Clark is doing work in the Protestant Hospital at Nashville.

The noon hour was the most enjoyable time of the day. From reports the dinner was one of the most sumptuous and delicious a man ever faced, and we are sure the reports have not been exaggerated in the least, because the doctor has always been a good provider, and his wife knows just how to prepare a good meal.

At 1:30 p. m. the Md's assembled at the office of Dr. Reeves, where they proceeded to carry out the afternoon program, which was very profitable to all.

The Society was delighted to have with them, Dr. and Mrs. Shipley of Cookeville.

The next meeting will be at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Gaw, on November 21st.

W. B. Lee Alive and Well.

I wish to correct an error that was published in last week's Sentinel about the death of W. B. Lee of Anaheim, Cal., formerly of this county.

It stated that he was killed in an automobile wreck on Oct. 5th and buried in Fresno, Cal., Oct. 8. If this was intended for W. Birdwell Lee it was a mistake because I received a letter from him written Oct. 18, and he was enjoying good health.

I write this for the benefit of his many anxious friends.

Lillian Lee.

WILL BOOST HOME PAPERS

Week of November 7-12 Set for National-Wide Endeavor.

"Subscribe to your home town paper."

This is the slogan of a new nationwide movement backed by the National Editorial Association and other agencies.

The movement has back of it far more than a selfish desire on the part of newspapers to acquire increased circulation, for it is, in effect, a step toward the perfect unification of America by the strengthening of ties that bind everyone to his native soil.

The campaign is, moreover, an excellent opportunity to boost the home town. The men and women who were born and reared here have, some of them, been away for many years and many important changes have taken place—changes in which they would be greatly interested. It is more often the case than not that private correspondence overlooks these changes, however carefully one might attempt to write "the news" in a letter.

The newspaper, on the other hand, prints all the items of interest, large and small, and is the ideal medium through which to keep in touch with in the old home town.

Towns Need Eye Opener.

Said a New York state business man the other day: "There is hardly a town in the country that does not need to have its eyes opened to the kind of work its newspapers do, week in and week out, and year in and year out, with rarely if ever a word of public appreciation and backing."
